- 1. ichthyology the study of fishes
- 2.icon an image; a figure or sculpture; anybody or anything uncritically admired
- 3.iconoclast a person who attacks traditional or established beliefs, principles, ideas, institutions, etc.
- 4.ideation the power of the mind for forming ideas or images
- 5. ideology way of thinking; doctrine; beliefs
- 6. idiocy extremely stupid behaviour
- 7.idiosyncrasy peculiarity of temperament; any characteristic of a person; eccentricity
- 8.idol an image of a God; fetish; an impostor, a sham
- 9.idolatry excessive adoration of or devotion to someone or something
- idyll a short pictorial poem, chiefly on pastoral subjects
- 11. igloo a dome-shaped hut made of blocks of hard snow; a hollow in the snow made by a seal over its breathing hole in the ice
- 12. igneous of fire; produced by solidification of the earth's internal molten magma

- 13. ignoble of low birth; mean or worthless; dishonorable
- 14. ignominy humiliation; dishonor; shame; infamy
- 15. ignoramus an ignorant person
- 16. illicit unlawful; forbidden; illegal
- 17. illimitable limitlessly infinite
- 18. illusion deceptive appearance; an apparition; hallucination
- 19. imaginings thoughts or fantasies
- 20. imbecile a foolish, unwise or stupid person; an idiot
- 21. imbibe to assimilate; to absorb; to receive into the mind
- 22. imbroglio an intricate or perplexing situation
- 23. imbrue to soak; to drench; to stain or dye
- 24. imbue to fill, permeate, inspire
- 25. immaculate perfectly groomed; flawless; unstained
- 26. imminent impending; forthcoming; threatening
- 27. immigrant come as a permanent resident to a country other than one's native
- 28. immolate to offer or kill as a sacrifice
- 29. immune inoculated; protected against a disease or infection; unresponsive

- 30. immune to confine; to imprison; to enclose as if within walls
- 31. immutable unchangeable
- 32. imp a small, mischievous devil or sprite; a mischievous child
- 33. impair weaken; damage
- 34. impale to pierce with something pointed; to fix on a sharp stake thrust through the body
- 35. impalpable not perceivable or detectable by touch; no capable of being comprehended or grasped
- 36. impasse a deadlock, stalemate; a situation from which further progress is impossible
- 37. impassive imperturbable; unemotional; having no sensation
- 38. impeach to arraign; to disparage; to charge with an offence committed in office
- 39. impeccable faultless; without flaw or error; ideal
- 40. impecunious destitute; poverty-stricken; poor
- 41. impede to hinder; to thwart; to obstruct
- 42. impediment an obstacle; hindrance
- 43. impending threatening
- 44. impenitent not repenting; a hardened sinner
- 45. imperious domineering, dictatorial; assuming command; haughty

- 46. impermeable not permitting passage, esp. of fluids or gases; impervious
- 47. impertinent audacious; bold; impudent; rude
- 48. imperturbability not disturbed or agitated; serene
- 49. impervious not easily influenced by ideas, arguments, etc., or moved or upset
- 50. impetigo a contagious skin infection forming spots and yellow crusty sores
- 51. impetuous hasty; spontaneous without due consideration
- 52. impetus momentum; motivation; force
- 53. impiety blasphemy; profanity; disrespect
- 54. impinge infringe; invade; violate
- 55. impious blasphemous; profanity; disrespect
- 56. implacable incapable of being placated or appeased; inexorable
- 57. implausible inconceivable; incredible; unbelievable
- 58. implicate connect with; involve; entangle
- 59. implicit absolute; definite; unquestionable; certain
- 60. implore to beg earnestly or desperately
- 61. impolitic not politic; inexpedient
- 62. imponderable not able to be weighed or evaluated

- 63. import significance; worth
- 64. importunate troublesomely persistent or demanding; pressing; insistent; annoying
- 65. importune to press or urge with repeated requests
- 66. impostor a person who assumes a false character or pretends to be someone else
- 67. imposture fraud; deception
- 68. impotent powerless; helpless; incapable of having sexual intercourse, owing to inability to achieve or maintain an erection
- 69. imprecate to invoke evil upon; to put a curse on
- 70. impregnable that cannot be captured, broken into or taken by force; strong
- 71. impressionable easily influenced
- 72. imprimatur a licence or permission to print a book, etc.
- 73. impromptu extemporaneous; improvised; spontaneous; unrehearsed
- 74. impropriety mistake; error; blunder; unsuitability
- 75. improvident imprudent; thoughtless; negligent
- 76. improvise to perform extempore; to bring about suddenly

- 77. imprudent lacking foresight or discretion; incautious; reckless
- 78. impugn to oppose; to attack by words or arguments; to call in question; criticize
- 79. impunity absolution; pardon
- 80. imputation the act of imputing or charging; censure; reproach
- 81. impute to ascribe; to charge; to attribute vicariously to
- 82. inadvertence negligence; over-sight
- 83. inalienable not capable of being transferred or removed; unchangeable
- 84. inane idiotic; senseless; ludicrous
- 85. inanimate without life; dead; dull
- 86. inarticulate dumb; speechless; incapable of clear and fluent expression
- 87. incandescent radiant; luminous; fluorescent
- 88. incantation a formula of words sung for purposes of enchantment, a magic spell; recitation of magic spells
- 89. incapacitate to disqualify legally; to disable; to make unfit (for)
- 90. incarcerate to imprison; to confine
- 91. incarnadine belonging to blood-red; blood-coloured

- 92. incarnate personified; embodied
- 93. incarnation the act of embodying in flesh
- 94. incendiary a person who inflames passions or stirs up trouble; a person who maliciously sets fire to property
- 95. incense anger; enrage; inflame; provoke
- 96. incentive that which incites to action, a stimulus; encouragement
- 97. inception beginning; commencement; inauguration
- 98. incessant uninterrupted; continuous
- 99. inchoate not established; rudimentary; only begun
- 100. incidence the frequency or range of occurrence; the falling of a ray on a surface
- 101. incipient beginning; nascent; developing
- 102. incisive having the quality of cutting in; trenchant
- 103. incite instigate; arouse; motivate; stimulate
- 104. incivility rude speech or behaviour
- 105. inclement severe; stormy; violent; harsh
- 106. incognito disguised; secretly
- 107. incongruous inconsistent; unsuitable
- 108. inconsequential unimportant; negligible; trivial
- 109. incontinent unrestrained; lacking control over

- 110. incontrovertible indisputable; unquestionable
- 111. incorporeal having no material form or body; intangible; spiritual or metaphysical
- 112. incorrigible beyond correction or reform
- 113. incorruptible too honest to be corrupted by taking bribes; not prone to death or decay
- 114. incredulity not having belief; expressing disbelief; skeptical
- 115. incredulous suspicious; doubtful; unwilling to believe
- 116. incriminate to implicate; to involve; to charge
- 117. incubate to brood eggs; to hatch; to devise
- 118. incubus a nightmare; any oppressive influence
- 119. inculcate to instill; to teach
- 120. incumbent a person who holds an office; binding; obligatory
- 121. incur incite; provoke; acquire; assume
- 122. incursion a sudden attack; invasion
- 123. indefatigable unflagging; untiring; determined
- 124. indelible (of ink or a mark) unable to be removed; unable to be forgotten
- 125. indelicate lacking sensitive understanding; slightly indecent
- 126. indemnify to compensate; to secure (with)

- 127. indenture contract; a written agreement between two or more parties, esp. between an apprentice and an employer
- 128. indict to charge with a crime formally or in writing
- 129. indigence dearth; insufficiency; poverty; destitution
- 130. indigenous native born; originating or produced naturally in a country, not imported
- 131. indignation righteous anger at injustice, etc; feeling caused by an unjustified slight, etc. to oneself
- 132. indignity disgrace; dishonor; insult
- 133. indiscriminate haphazard; random; unsystematic
- 134. indisputable beyond doubt or question
- 135. indissoluble that cannot be broken or dissolved; inseparable; binding permanently
- 136. indite to compose or write
- 137. indolence idleness; inactivity; laziness
- 138. indomitable not to be overcome, unconquerable
- 139. indubitably without doubt, certainly
- 140. induce bring on; cause; produce
- 141. inductive possessive; introductory
- 142. indulgent lenient; permissive; ready to gratify the wishes of others
- 143. inebriety drunkenness; intoxication

- 144. ineffable inexpressible; not able to be described, indescribable
- 145. ineluctable not able to be escaped from or avoided
- 146. inept foolish, silly; awkward, clumsy
- 147. inequity discrimination; injustice
- 148. inert sluggish; static; chemically inactive
- 149. inexorable relentless; unyielding
- 150. inextricable impossible to untangle or separate
- 151. infallible perfect; incapable of making a mistake; incapable of failure
- 152. infamous notorious; nefarious; having a very bad reputation
- 153. infantile childish; undeveloped
- 154. inference conclusion; deduction
- 155. infernal hellish; fiendish; abominable
- 156. infidel agnostic; atheist; unbeliever
- 157. infinitesimal minute; tiny; microscopic
- 158. infirmity illness; ailment; disease
- 159. influx a flowing in, esp. of a large number of people or things; accession
- 160. infraction breach; violation
- 161. infringe to violate; to break; to trespass
- 162. ingenious skilful; adroit; of good natural abilities

- 163. ingénue an artless, naïve or inexperienced young woman
- 164. ingenuous genuine; candid; frank
- 165. ingrate an ungrateful person
- 166. ingratiate to commend persuasively to someone's favour; cajole; flatter
- 167. inherent inborn; natural; native
- 168. inhibit constrain; restrain; restrict
- 169. inimical hostile; unfriendly; unfavorable
- 170. inimitable incomparable; matchless; exceptionally good or remarkable
- 171. iniquitous wicked; evil; sinful
- 172. initiate to begin, start; to introduce
- 173. inkling a slight hint; a clue; an indication
- 174. innate natural; inborn; native
- 175. innocuous harmless; innocent
- 176. innovation a thing introduced as a novelty; introduction
- 177. innuendo insinuation; an indirect reference or intimation
- 178. inoculate treat a (person or animal) with vaccine containing a dead or modified disease-causing agent; instill a person with ideas or options
- 179. inopportune inauspicious; untimely

- 180. inordinate unrestrained; excessive; immoderate
- 181. inquisitor an official investigator
- 182. insane not of sound mind, mad
- 183. inscribe write or crave on stone, metal, paper, a book, etc.
- 184. inscrutable that cannot be scrutinized or searched into and understood; mysterious, enigmatic
- 185. insensate without sensation, inanimate; having little of no good sense
- 186. insidious cunning and treacherous; deceitful; covert
- 187. insinuate to hint or indirectly suggest; to intimate
- 188. insipid lacking spirit or interest; dull
- 189. insolent disrespectful and rude; unmannerly; bold; audacious
- 190. insolvent bankrupt; not able to pay one's debts; destitute
- 191. insomnia sleeplessness
- 192. insouciant unconcerned; indifferent; heedless; apathetic
- 193. instigate to initiate, bring about; to encourage; to provoke
- 194. insubordinate refusing to submit to authority; disobedient, rebellious

- 195. insularity the state of being isolated or remaining aloof
- 196. insuperable not capable of being overcome or surmounted
- 197. insurgent rebellious; revolutionary; mutinous
- 198. insurrection revolt; uprising
- 199. integrity honesty; principle; character
- 200. integument an external covering
- 201. intellect the thinking principle; intelligence; brain
- 202. intelligentsia the intellectual or cultured classes
- 203. inter –to bury
- 204. interdict to prohibit; to forbid
- 205. interim meantime; provisional; temporary
- 206. interlocutor a person who takes part in a dialogue or conversation
- 207. interlocutory of an intermediate decree before a final decision
- 208. interloper a person who meddles in another's affairs, esp. for profit; an intruder; a trespasser
- 209. interminable without termination or limit; endless
- 210. intermittent ceasing at intervals; periodic
- 211. intern a recent graduate or advanced student receiving supervised training in a hospital and acting as

- an assistant physician or surgeon; confine, oblige (a prisoner, alien, etc.) to reside within prescribed limits
- 212. internecine deadly; murderous
- 213. interpolate to tamper with or to corrupt by spurious insertions
- 214. interstices a small space between things closely set
- 215. intimidation the act of intimidating; the use of violence or threats; to frighten
- 216. intone recite with prolonged sounds, utter with a particular tone
- 217. intractable disobedient; unruly; stubborn
- 218. intransigence refusal to come to an understanding
- 219. intrepid brave; undaunted
- 220. intrinsic genuine; inherent
- 221. introspection the observation and analysis of the processes of one's own mind
- 222. introvert a person predominantly concerned with his or her own thoughts and feelings rather than with external things
- 223. intuition the power of the mind by which it perceives the truth of things without reasoning or analysis; instinct
- 224. inundate flood; overwhelm

- 225. inured accustomed; habituated; hardened
- 226. invalidate to render invalid or ineffective; to annul; to cancel
- 227. invective a severe or reproachful accusation or denunciation; an attack with words; abusive language
- 228. inveigh to rebuke; to revile; to criticize
- 229. inveigle entice; wheedle; to persuade by cajolery
- 230. inveterate chronic; deep-rooted
- 231. invidious malicious; likely to incur or provoke illwill or resentment; likely to excite envy
- 232. invincible unbeatable; that cannot be defeated or overcome; insuperable
- 233. inviolability the quality of being inviolable
- 234. invoke to call upon earnestly or solemnly; to address in prayer
- 235. invulnerable indomitable; unconquerable; that cannot gbe wounded
- 236. iota bit; fraction
- 237. irascible irritable; quick-tempered
- 238. irate angry; enraged
- 239. iridescent glittering with changing colours like the rainbow
- 240. irksome burdensome; tedious; annoying

- 241. irony conveyance of meaning by words whose literal meaning is the opposite; sarcasm
- 242. irreconcilable incapable of being brought back to a state of friendship or agreement
- 243. irrefragable that cannot be refuted; unanswerable
- 244. irrepressible not able or willing to be restrained, subdued
- 245. irresolute not firm in purpose; weak willed
- 246. irreverent sacrilegious; disrespectful; not reverent
- 247. irrevocable that cannot be recalled or revoked
- 248. iterate repeat, state repeatedly
- 249. itinerant migrant; wandering
- 250. itinerary travel plan; a record of a journey

QUICK \ DOUBT SOLVING